My appreciation for the ECRSSA

Ultimately what the program has helped me with is getting direction and encouragement when I felt like I was standing still or unable to get the answers I needed in pursuing a job. Also got help with what my options were for support. The program and staff were there to give me that encouragement and direction.

Helping me with putting together a resume and options for schooling and work made me feel like I was heading in the right direction. To be able to just go and talk to a member of the program about challenges I was facing that were detrimental for my self-esteem and then was encouraged to continue on in the right direction.

So I am extremely thankful for the program and all of the staff members that are there to help with not just the large challenges, but the small things that are easily overlooked. I now have full time employment with a construction firm, am back with my family, and enjoying my life. Having the program to reach out to is a key for anyone who is looking to pick up the pieces after prison and get their life back on track.

I am extremely grateful for the program, the staff members and all they have done for me.
